1.0 ABOUT ANTI-CORRUPTION COALITION UGANDA

Anti-Corruption Coalition Uganda (ACCU) was established in January 1999 and officially registered as an NGO in 2004. ACCU unites like-minded individuals and organizations dedicated to raising awareness, exposing and advocating for the reduction of corruption in Uganda. Since its inception, ACCU has been committed to fostering an accountable and corruption-free society through diverse initiatives, often with support from various development partners. At the national level, ACCU collaborates with Civil Society Organizations (CSOs) operating in the accountability sector while on the local front, ACCU works with and through Regional Anti-Corruption Coalitions (RACCs) distributed across the country as well as grassroots member organizations. This ensures that citizens' voices are effectively represented across the national agenda.

2.0 BACKGROUND

Uganda annually loses Ugx 9.14tn to corruption, which is approximately 18% of the national budget.¹ In addition, the annual Corruption Perception Index by Transparency International has consistently ranked Uganda poorly in terms of fighting corruption despite government's effort to establish legal, policy and institutional frameworks to fight corruption.² Uganda has also been in the midst of several corruption scandals involving billions of shillings and spanning over decades.

Corruption in Uganda is mainly caused by; weak citizen capacity to engage government on accountability, limited citizen monitoring of public services, limited access to information, low state responsiveness to citizen accountability demands, poor implementation of anti-corruption laws, limited capacity of anti-corruption agencies, impunity, patronage and mild political will to fight some forms of corruption. The unabated corruption has resulted into; poor public service delivery, high cost of delivering public services, increasing national debt burden, denial of basic human rights, under-development and worsening economic conditions.

In order to address these challenges, ACCU is implementing a 4-year project titled "Civic Engagement for Accountability Project (CEAP)". The project aims to strengthen accountability of state actors in Uganda and; enhance the capacity of non-state actors to demand for accountability.

² Transparency International, (2023). Corruption Perception Index.

This will ultimately contribute to improved transparency and accountability among state and non-state actors in Uganda. The project is implemented at national level and 8 districts of; Yumbe, Terego, Madi-Okollo and Obongi in West Nile and Moroto, Napak, Nakapiripirit and Nabilatuk in Karamoja targeting 7,200 youth; 1,360 government stakeholders; 50 CSOs; 80 Community Based Monitors and; 9,840,200 citizens directly and indirectly.

3.0 JUSTIFICATION

Corruption in Uganda is systematic, systemic, syndicated and astronomical in proportion. This has been facilitated by a number of factors including low citizen capacity to engage leaders on accountability and citizen apathy, among other factors. Anti-Corruption Coalition Uganda seeks to equip citizens, especially young people, with skills and knowledge to engage their leaders on matters of accountability and good governance.

This will mainly be through specialised trainings and targeted capacity building initiatives using digital means. The essence of this is to equip young people with the knowledge and tools necessary to become anti-corruption advocates who demand for transparency and accountability from their leaders. ACCU therefore seeks services of a service provider or company to provide a studio sound system, for ACCU’s digital studio. The sound system will be used during training sessions and production of training content.
