PROVISION OF TRAINING SERVICES ON SAFEGUARDING IN ANTI-CORRUPTION AND ACCOUNTABILITY WORK

1.0 Introduction

Anti-Corruption Coalition Uganda (ACCU) was established in January 1999 and officially registered as an NGO in 2004. ACCU unites like-minded individuals and organizations dedicated to raising awareness, exposing, and advocating for the reduction of corruption in Uganda. Since its inception, ACCU has remained committed to fostering an accountable and corruption-free society through diverse initiatives, working with both national and grassroots partners to ensure citizens' voices are effectively represented in governance and accountability processes.

As part of its commitment to advancing structured learning on integrity and accountability, ACCU has been conducting online trainings to provide specialized knowledge for selected citizens, aimed at capacity-building and empowering citizens to actively participate in the fight against corruption. To ensure that the training modules are effectively rolled out through the online learning platform, ACCU seeks to identify and support a core facilitator who will lead the training on safeguarding in anti-corruption and accountability.

2.0 Background

Corruption continues to undermine Uganda's governance, service delivery, and development efforts, with an estimated UGX 9.14 trillion lost annually (Inspectorate of Government, 2024). Corruption in Uganda is mainly caused by; weak citizen capacity to engage government on accountability, limited citizen monitoring of public services, limited access to information, low state responsiveness to citizen accountability demands, poor implementation of anti-corruption laws, limited capacity of anti-corruption agencies, impunity, patronage and mild political will to fight some forms of corruption. This has resulted into; poor public service delivery, high cost of delivering public services, an increasing national debt burden, denial of basic human rights, under-development and worsening economic conditions.

To address these challenges, Anti-Corruption Coalition Uganda is implementing a project titled 'Civic Engagement for Accountability Project (CEAP)' with an overall objective of contributing to improved transparency and accountability among state and non-state actors in Uganda.

The project is implemented at national level and in the 10 districts of Yumbe, Terego, Madi-Okollo, Pakwach and Obongi in West Nile and; Moroto, Napak, Nakapiripirit, Kotido and Nabilatuk in Karamoja. The project focuses on tackling corruption in critical service delivery sectors of health, education, justice, livelihood and environment, which directly affect ordinary Ugandans. The project supplements government efforts in combatting corruption through strengthening accountability of state actors in Uganda, and enhancing the capacity of non-state actors to demand for transparency and accountability at national and sub national levels.

3.0 Justification for the Assignment

Uganda has demonstrated commitment to fighting corruption through enactment of various legal, policy and institutional frameworks, and by ratifying regional and international instruments such as the United Nations Convention against Corruption (UNCAC) and the African Union Convention on Preventing and Combating Corruption (AUCPCC). These instruments emphasize the importance of education and public awareness as key strategies in preventing corruption and promoting a culture of integrity.

Despite ongoing interventions by government agencies, civil society organizations, and development partners, corruption continues to be pervasive across both the public and private sectors. On the other hand, safeguarding considerations within anti-corruption efforts receive insufficient attention. Inadequate understanding of safeguarding principles and accountability systems leaves citizens particularly young people vulnerable to exploitation, harm, and exclusion. This underscores the need for well structured, context responsive safeguarding education within anti-corruption initiatives, to empower youth with the knowledge and skills to identify risks, uphold ethical conduct, and advance safe, inclusive, and accountable approaches to combating corruption.

Although some stakeholders have introduced isolated trainings and awareness materials on safeguarding, the country still lacks a coordinated and institutionalized safeguarding curriculum that can be mainstreamed into formal and non-formal education settings, professional training programs, and civic education platforms. This shortfall weakens efforts to ensure that anti-corruption initiatives are implemented ethically, safely, and inclusively, and constrains the development of a values driven society grounded in integrity, protection, and accountability.

In response to this gap, ACCU has developed a comprehensive safeguarding module tailored to anti-corruption work, with the goal of ensuring that integrity building initiatives are delivered in a safe, ethical, and inclusive way. ACCU is therefore seeking a skilled facilitator to effectively deliver this module, motivate youth led engagement, and support continuity of the learning processes.

4.0 General Objective

To engage a consultant to train selected citizens virtually on safeguarding in anti-corruption using the developed module.

5.0 Specific Objectives

- To identify a qualified facilitator with expertise in safeguarding, integrity, accountability, governance, and citizen engagement to lead the online training.
- To deliver specialised virtual trainings for citizens on safeguarding in anti-corruption.

6.0 Scope of Work

The consultant will be responsible for delivering the module on safeguarding in anti-corruption under the virtual training program. Specifically, the consultant will;

1. Review the module and related training materials, and develop an online training delivery plan, including a session outline, methodology, and interactive tools tailored to citizen engagement.

2. Facilitate interactive online training sessions for participants using the safeguarding in anti-corruption module, including innovative digital learning approaches such as, polls, case studies, group work, role plays, simulations, and breakout sessions to ensure effective knowledge transfer and active citizen participation.
3. Equip participants with the knowledge, skills, and values to detect, resist, and report corruption, while inspiring and mentoring them to serve as integrity ambassadors and anti-corruption advocates within their communities.
4. Administer pre-and post-training assessment tools to measure knowledge acquisition among participants.
5. Document key insights, challenges, and success stories during the training process.
6. Participate in debriefing sessions with ACCU to share lessons learned and propose improvements for subsequent trainings.

7.0 Methodology

Prospective consultants are encouraged to propose the most suitable methodology for the delivery of the training. Consultants should outline a clear methodology, the strategy and methods to be used in delivering the module. The final methodology will be refined together with ACCU to ensure alignment with organisational objectives.

8.0 Expected Outputs

Prospective consultants are expected to provide detailed technical and financial proposals detailing the consultants' understanding of the Terms of Reference and attach relevant CVs.
